WRITTEN AT SEA.

Oh it is sad, when far away,
To think upon our native land,
And deem the sun's departing ray
Shall beam upon that happy strand;
To rove in visions of the night,
O'er hill and stream and grassy dale,
And see, new dress'd in beauty bright,
Each well known plain and dewy vale,
When far away.

Oh it is sweet for those who roam,
To their lov'd country to return,
And view once more the blessed home
For which their tortur'd bosoms burn;
To see again the joyous spot
Where 'rose in bliss their youthful years,
All pain and anguish now forgot
They felt before, and all their tears,
When far away.

Away with pleasure's sickly train,
Away with joy's extatic beam—
Let them not mock my sight again,
Nor spoil the darkness of my dream.
There have been hours of fancied bliss—
But these forevermore are gone;
Give me the hour when tumults cease,
And lonely SORROW broods alone!

The feverish joys that once I lov'd
I would not now again resume;
Their vanity my heart has prov'd,
And now it courts seclusion's gloom;
The heart that beat to rapture high,
Is hush'd to low and murmuring tone,
The bursting brain and eager eye
Delight in SORROW'S HOUR alone.

Original Miscellany.

FOR THE ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE.

I am fully persuaded that one of the best springs towards generous and worthy actions is, the having generous and worthy thoughts of ourselves; for it is certain that the person who entertains a mean opinion of the dignity of his own nature, will act in no higher a rank than he has allotted himself in his own estimation.

That no denomination of men possess this virtue in a higher degree than those gentlemen who profess the law, will, I believe, be readily acknowledged; inasmuch that many of them, from the high opinion they entertain of their own abilities, will often endeavor to convince a jury that their plea is right, though diametrically opposite to justice, law and reason. I have been on a jury myself where the witnesses produced, and the testimony exhibited, were so simple, plain and demonstrative, that a very small degree of penetration and discernment was necessary to have discovered in whose favor the verdict of the jury would have terminated.

Notwithstanding, the lawyers were allowed to plead about four hours, to no purpose but to the manifest disadvantage of many poor men who were attending—And this indulgence of the bar, I fear, is too often connived at by our honorable court; who, as gentlemen to whom the administration of justice is entrusted, ought to prevent any unnecessary debates or harangues, however elegantly or learnedly delivered. The oath which all jurymen take, is to determine the matter according to evidence. Now, if the lawyers were just allowed to explain the nature of the evidence delivered to the court and jury, and make a few necessary comments, and no more, business would be expedited, the docket soon cleared, people exonerated from great trouble and expense, and all matters put in a nice train.

Instead of this, we find in some suits two, and sometimes three lawyers, for each party. Well, after the examination of the witness, the gentleman who opens the cause rises and makes a very learned and able argument in favor of his client, which is retorted by his opponent, and so on until it comes to the turn of the last counsel—he rises, fully persuaded that he is able to comment as learnedly on the subject as any of his predecessors, but observes to the court and jury that it is unnecessary for him to trouble them much on the subject, as it has been so ably discussed by the gentlemen already in favor of his client; he, therefore, means to be as concise as possible, and in the most pointed manner reprobates the practice of some lawyers who take up so much of the court's time; and this he exemplifies in the following manner: May it please the court and you, gentlemen of the jury.

There are a set of men in the world of such a tedious, tiresome, troublesome, irksome, trifling habitude, temper and disposition of mind, that they confuse, perplex, confound, entangle and puzzle every circumstance in every cause which they undertake to protect, defend, justify or engage in. Instead of coming to the point, thing, matter, business or debate, they deviate, vary and fly off therefrom. When we expect truth, satisfaction, conviction and decision, we find, perceive, observe and remark nothing but uncertainty, ambiguity, doubtfulness and difficulty. This, may it please your worships, I humbly apprehend, conceive, think, presume and surmise, is owing to tediousness and prolixity: the nature, genius and extent of which I shall consider, weigh, examine, expatiate and scrutinize. In the first place, then, I will show, prove and demonstrate the nature of tediousness and prolixity by showing, proving and demonstrating that there is nothing so unnatural for the business of a tongue, speech, utterance or language, as not to come to the point, argument, contemplation or question at once point blank, slap dash and concisely, without any prevarication, equivocation, retardation or any circumbendibus whatsoever; and now, in the second, succeeding, following place, point and preliminary, I come to promulgate the genius of tediousness and prolixity, which is done, perfected, performed and brought about by manifesting that they have no genius at all; and so far from any man of genius making use of them, none but your egregious, absurd, ridiculous dolts, dunderheads and blockheads ever admit, receive or embrace any such notions ideas, maxims, principles or tenets. Thirdly, I beg leave, according to order, form, series and succession, to animadvert upon the extent of tediousness and prolixity: this is managed, by demonstrating that it is infinite and without bounds, and, consequently, can have no extent. And now, may it please your worships, I will open the cause, spring, origin, fountain, rise and foundation of these views, which is tautology—which is the telling, speaking, saying, delivering, uttering, pronouncing, divulging, declaring, remarking, observing, repeating or expressing the same identical, individual thing an hundred and an hundred and an hundred hundred times over; and now may it please the court, I beg leave, pardon, permission and sufferance to lay down only six and fifty particulars: every particular shall consist of only seventy divisions; every division shall comprehend, contain and consist of only eighty subdivisions; every subdivision shall be concluded with the six and fortieth article; and every article shall consume, expend and cost no more than an hour and a half.

If worthy of notice, your inserting the above will gratify A FREEMAN.

From the N. Y. Merc. Advertiser, Oct. 6.

Some seamen, lately arrived in this city from Havanna, have handed us a statement made by some Americans, in confinement at that place, with a request that it might be published, in the hope that government may afford them relief.

The statement is signed by Peter Ankar, who it appears belongs at Boston, but sailed last in the Mary, from Richmond for St. Croix. At this place he got charge of a West India schooner, & was prosecuting successful voyages from one Island to another, when his owner persuaded him to engage as second officer of a privateer, under Capt. Asa Husmer—In this new employment they soon made a prize of a slave vessel fr. Africa, with which they proceeded off St. Jago de Cuba, for the purpose of ransoming it as agreed with the owners. While engaged in this negociation the commandant sent out a vessel of superior force, and captured them.

The whole crew, in which there were 8 Americans, were thrown into prison, and confined in irons for 5 months, in separate apartments, with only a plate full of rice every 24 hours to subsist upon—Com. Taylor had been off the place, and demanded their exchange, which the governor refused. They were then marched, almost naked and barefooted to Havana, suffering on the way hunger and thirst, and inhuman treatment from the soldiers who guarded them.

Since their imprisonment at Havanna, a British man of war has been at that port, and obtained the release of such of their companions as were British subjects. They have sent a representation to government, and a petition for relief, but do not know that it reached the U. States. They hope the government will demand their release, and if they have acted wrong, punish them at home.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1817.

MR. SNOWDEN,

In looking over the list of voters in Fairfax county objected to by general Mason at the late election between him and Mr. Mercer, I observe the name of John Arundel, as not being a citizen.—Being a neighbor, and acquainted with the history of this voter, I beg you to publish it, as it may show how frivolous some of the general's objections are.—John Arundel came into this country in the year 1774, and enlisted into the United States' army in the year 1776 from the state of New-Jersey, and continued constantly in the army until the treaty of peace in 1782; and it is well known that when a soldier enters the regular army he swears allegiance to the country. Mr. Arundel is a freeholder and a respectable, wealthy man, as to all purposes of comfort. A SUBSCRIBER.

St Mary's Sept. 27.

It appears Com. Aury had sailed from Galveston, expressly commissioned, by Mexico, as governor of the Floridas, to take Amelia; they not having heard of MacGregor's being there; Aury bro't with him some negro troops, belonging to St. Domingo.

Charleston, October 2.

THE PATRIOTS LIBELLED.

Don Antonio Arcette Villalogne, consul of his majesty the king of Spain, has filed a libel in the admiralty court of Georgia, against the schr Camilla & her cargo, now at Savannah, as Spanish property, "forcibly and piratically taken on the high seas, by persons having no authority to make prizes of war, or capture the property of Spanish subjects; & that no sentence or decree of condemnation hath ever been pronounced against the said vessel, goods, wares and merchandize, or any part of them."

A libel has also been filed in the same court, by J. H. Elton, commander of the U. S. brig Saranac, for and in behalf of himself, his officers and crew, and of the U. States, against the schooner Iris, and her cargo, now lying in the river of St. Mary's. The Iris was fitted out at N. Orleans, and sailed from there for Amelia Island, about the 22d August, with a cargo of provisions and gunpowder, was armed with two carriage guns, and several of the same description were found concealed in her hold. She was detained by the Saranac on suspicion that she was to be employed in cruising or committing "hostilities against the subjects or the property of the subjects of his majesty the king of Spain, or against the subjects, citizens, or property of some other prince, state, colony, district or people, with whom the U. States are at peace, contrary to an act of congress of the said United States, entitled "an act more effectually to preserve the neutral relations of the United States, passed 3d of March, 1817."

October 3

The Revenue schr. Gallatin, Ross, commander, went down to the Roads yesterday afternoon, and took from on board the Venezuelian brig of war l'America Libre, capt. Ferrero, 8 men and a boy who were shipped at New York, when she lately arrived here. The men expressed a wish to leave her. The brig has on board a maj. gen. M. G. Villerei, and sailed this morning, supposed for St. Mary's.

From the Salem Register, Oct. 4.

The celebrated BARGE OF CLEOPATRA yesterday returned to our port. She has displayed in Europe the first example of a visit to European ports, in a vessel which had no other object than a view of the commercial cities which Europe contains. The visit is in the style of our American researches. We can find many of our countrymen who have been at every part of our Continent, and who have not chosen to encounter the inconveniences of travelling by land. In great cities they have seen the progress of each state, each province and each territory. And if they have not receded from better to worse; from the most enlightened society to all the feeble aids of distant settlements, they have seen from the first records of commerce, how much the arts of life, the intercourse of life, and luxuries of life, have contributed to bless the condition of man. It is this view which the commercial man delights to take. He can circumnavigate the globe to find what will bless commerce and give it protection, with more pleasure than take an excursion of a few hours where each thing is separate.—The whole is read in the place where commerce collects all that is good for man.

The following comprises a list of the places capt. Crowninshield, visited during his cruise, and much interesting Marine Intelligence.

Arrived at this port (Salem) on the 3d instant, the beautiful brig "CLEOPATRA'S BARGE," Benj. Crowninshield, master, and George Crowninshield, passenger, having visited the following places, viz:—Flores, Fayal, St. Michaels and Madeira, in the North Atlantic Ocean; thence to Tangier, Gibraltar, Algeziras, Malaga, Carthagena, Port Mahon, in the island of Minorca; Barcelona, Marseilles, Toulon, Genoa, Leghorn, (from thence to Florence by land, thro' the beautiful city of Pisa,) Porto-Ferrajo, Port Rio, Port Longon, in the island of Elba, and Civita Vecchia; thence to Rome by land.—On leaving Civita Vecchia for America, passed through the Straits of Bonniface, between Corsica and Sardinia.

The Cleopatra's Barge, had a passage of 11 days from Civita Vecchia, to Gibraltar, and 27 from Gibraltar, having for 10 days last past, experienced head winds and calms.

TREATY OF GHENT.

The English and American commissioners, who are to decide, and the agents of the two governments who conduct the controversy relative to the islands in Passamaquoddy Bay, under the 4th article of the treaty of Ghent, are still in session in this town.

The business of this commission is very much in advance of the other under the same treaty, which, from the greater quantity of actual surveys, could not be in so much forwardness.

At the last meeting in this town in June, the commissioners having examined the evidence of the case, heard an argument by the agent of each government, in which was fully developed the principles and right on which each nation considers itself entitled to all the islands in Passamaquoddy Bay, and to Grand-Menan, in the Bay of Fundy.

During the interval since the adjournment, a replication has been prepared by the agents respectively, and has now been heard by the commissioners.

In these replications, which have continued for six or seven days, great efforts have been made by each of the agents to support his positions, and overthrow those of his opponent. Since the arguments are finished, the commissioners have sat with closed doors, and we are unable to give any further detail of their proceedings; and we presume nothing will transpire until it shall come to the public through the government of one or the other nation.

It has often been asked, what is the value of the premises in dispute? We can reply, that the controversy involves a jurisdiction over three or four thousand inhabitants, a portion of country capable of forming five or six townships, a right of convenient navigation to the River St. Croix, which is of great importance to the towns on the stream, and particularly that it embraces many good harbors and places for drying fish, which, in case American vessels are excluded from the shores of Nova Scotia, are indispensable for the prosecution of the business in that quarter.

From the well known talents and zeal of the gentlemen engaged on the American side of the question, we have no doubt that every exertion, comporting with just and honorable principles, has been made to advance the interests of the United States.

NARRATIVE

OF THE EXPEDITION TO AMELIA ISLAND.

[BY ONE CONCERNED.]

Part the SECOND—Events subsequent to the capture of Fernandina.

(CONCLUDED.)

The cause of this variable deportment is left to conjecture. It was of a nature, however, which produced the deepest mortification and regret among those who had committed themselves to the guidance of a man who could be thus influenced. Nor were these feelings lessened in their force from the consideration that this individual possessed and exercised absolute powers both in the civil and military departments without limitation, acountability, or control. In consequence of this state of things, several officers retired from the service, and others were looking out for a fit character to fill that office, which they believed to be in unworthy and incapable hands. To those Colonel Posey came recommended, not only as next in command, but from the universal esteem in which he was held. Propositions were made to him to this effect, and he was entreated to supply the place of the then commanding General—a nobleness and generosity of soul of which there are few examples, would not consent to supplant a man under whose authority he had engaged to serve. Not that he was insensible to this man's incapacity, or felt the disappointment which this conviction produced less keenly than others—but because he believed his honor to be in some measure pledged to M'Gregor, and at all events did not choose to expose his own conduct to misconception or censure. He was, however, strongly convinced of the necessity of imposing some check upon the overgrown and despotic powers of the commander—and with the concurrence and aid of some of his confidential friends, had prepared a plan for this purpose, which was only postponed to the arrival of the New-York expedition. Repeated letters were received from the gentlemen in that city, naming now this day, now that, when the fleet which was to convey powerful and effectual reinforcements, would certainly sail, and that this event had been delayed only by the increase of means, which would exceed the most sanguine expectations of those concerned. Supported by the hopes which these oft repeated assurances were calculated to inspire—the Patriots at Amelia held out for two months under circumstances the most discouraging and alarming.—Their ranks daily thinned by disease, death, and desertion—until thirty efficient soldiers were not left on the Island—the leader of the expedition possessed of the confidence and esteem of scarcely one individual—officers distrustful and jealous—privates dissatisfied, insubordinate, and disorderly—nothing done to strengthen the works on the Island, although the general often declared that with his knowledge of fortification he could render them impregnable. His officers looked in vain for a display of those qualities which they expected to find in a chief so renowned, or of that practicable information on military subjects, which a long course of service must certainly have enabled him to acquire.

In this state of almost utter hopelessness, months were consumed, when about the latter end of August, accounts were received that the Morgiana had left N. York with supplies of men, arms, money and provisions.—This news re-animated the almost extinguished spirits of the Patriots;—and in a few days was followed by the arrival of this much desired vessel.—The Morgiana is in sight! the Morgiana has crossed the bar! was resounded from all parts. And when she dropped anchor, an universal burst of joy and congratulation gave notice of the event. But this exultation was of short duration.—The long expected Argo had indeed arrived, but bro't no golden fleece. It was with the utmost astonishment discovered, that she had come on without her armament, and with only twenty five men—and that although her guns and arms would follow in a few days, she had brought no other accession of strength or means for the Patriot cause. It was too with as much surprize and indignation, learnt that the character of this vessel had been utterly changed, that fitted out as was pretended as a national ship, she had been converted into a privateer, and furnished with a Buenos Ayrean commission.—All of any reflection now perceived that the accomplishment of the objects of the expedition was beyond the scope of possibility, and most of those who were not desperate in their fortunes & character, resolved to abandon an enterprize, which promised no glory to themselves nor advantage to the Patriot cause. It was with the most heartfelt anguish, that colonel Posey saw the destruction of those hopes, which he had so long and so fondly indulged. The idea of assisting to confer liberty and happiness upon an enslaved and wretched people, was too dear to him to be parted with without the most poignant feelings of regret. But deceived by the general, and the gentlemen in New-York, and indignant at the treachery and duplicity which had been used towards him by both, he did not long hesitate in the course which he ought to pursue.—Unwilling to harass, by an unprofitable contest, a people whom he came to benefit, in conjuction with the friends who had accompanied him from Virginia, on the 4th of September, he threw up his commission, embarked on board a small schooner for Wilmington N. C. at which place he terminated his earthly career, regretted by all who had an opportunity of estimating his worth. The evening previous to his departure from the Island he was waited upon by the general, at his quarters where he had been long confined by sickness, and informed that it was utterly impossible for him to keep possession of the Island much longer; that his stock of provisions was nearly exhausted and he had no means of obtaining a fresh supply. In short, that the expedition against the Floridas, must inevitably fail, as there were no resources to support it. The author having brought down his narrative to the 4th of Sept. 1817, has little more to add. If he is correctly informed, upon that evening, general M'Gregor resigned the command of the army, and Col. Irvin, a native of Pennsylvania, was elected by the officers in his stead. Of the supposed views and objects of those who still remain on that Island, it does not become the author of this narrative particularly to speak. They will be best developed by their actions. He cannot however, believe that their resources will enable them to extend their conquest; and he is very certain that they have not sufficient military talent among them, for great or splendid achievements. If, as some have conjectured, Amelia Island is to be held only as a nest for the numerous privateers, who at this day infest the seas, every friend of humanity must rejoice to see it broken up. The demoralizing effect which such a depot, so near to the United States, would have upon its citizens, is much to be dreaded. The horrors of this system of privateering, as carried on by cruizers under the Patriot flag, ought to be exposed to the public view by some able pen. The narrator has had some opportunities of estimating the characters and views of persons engaged in this traffic, and he is convinced that Mammon is the only God they worship, upon whose altar they would sacrifice whole hecatombs of their fellow citizens.

Land for Sale.

IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I purpose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.

THE SUBSCRIBER will sell, on reasonable terms, a valuable and productive farm of 600 acres, or thereabouts—being part of the lands of the late Richard Brent, lying on Kettle Run in the county of Prince William, in the state of Virginia—20 miles from the Occoquan Mills—33 miles from Alexandria, and about the same distance from Georgetown and the City of Washington. This farm lies in the centre of an excellant neighborhood—is handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past, been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry—Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George L. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.

Land for Sale.

THE Subscriber offers for sale, about 2,000 acres of land in Fairfax county, not more than from seven to nine miles from Alexandria. The property is well watered, has a sufficiency of wood, and (judging from the condition of small and well cultivated farms that adjoin it,) it is highly susceptible of improvement.—It is at present divided into tenements, of from one to two hundred acres each provided with a dwelling house, out houses, a garden and orchard; and might, of course, be laid off into four or five very compact farms. The principal object of the subscriber, being the introduction of a good system of husbandry into his neighbourhood, he will sell on very moderate terms, give a long credit on the whole amount of the purchase money, and require no other interest, than what the present rent of the land pays, being about 3 per cent. on its estimated value.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of blood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric affections	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Toothe Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
